Relief for disaster flooding to depend on loss thresholds

County waives permit fees in affected area

BY BOB DEMAREE

Emergency Management Director Troy Morgan told County Commissioners Thursday that qualifying for federal disaster relief for damaged caused by Labor Day weekend flash flooding will depend on the three impacted counties — Jefferson, Switzerland and Ohio — meeting damage thresholds.

Morgan estimated the required damage thresholds to be between $11 million and $12 million for disaster events to be eligible for funding.

“As long as Indiana can meet that threshold per incident then that will give the President reason to release that for federal assistance,” he said.

Whether the threshold for federal assistance will be reached for the Labor Day weekend flooding should be known by next week once the county highway department finalizes the amount of the infrastructure damage in Jefferson County.

Morgan said he’s heard speculation that the damage assessment for Switzerland County could be in the $5 to $6 million range and Ohio County at approximately $1 million. That would mean it Jefferson County’s losses were equal to both the other counties combined the threshold would be within reach.

“Together cumulatively if we hit that threshold then we would qualify. If we don’t qualify or we don’t hit that threshold, or for whatever the President doesn’t grant the request that would still allow the Governor at his discretion to open up the state relief fund,” Morgan said.

McCormick: Advertising biggest issue facing Regatta

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

New Madison Regatta President Jak McCormick hit the ground running, outlining his plans for the upcoming season during the organization’s monthly general membership meeting on Wednesday.

McCormick, the grandson of famed Miss Madison pilot Jim McCormick, takes over the reigns from the Greg Thorpe after serving as vice-president the past two years. During that time, McCormick got a close-up view of how the organization runs and is confident he has a road plan to make the race a success.

“We put on an event that had a $2.2 million impact, the biggest music show we’ve ever had but there is plenty of room to grow,” McCormick told the membership. “There is a lot of room for improvement but I am confident that the people in this room know what it takes and are willing to get the job done.”

Despite picture-perfect weather and water conditions, and music headliners 38 Special and Jo Dee Messina, the Regatta actually saw low ticket sales for the weekend, with about 7,000 wristbands sold. But due to the organization’s attention to budgeting, the Regatta nearly broke even overall, and McCormick knows they can do better — a lot better.

MCS holds budget hearing for 2023

Schools propose spending $36.2M

BY BOB DEMAREE

A 2023 budget public hearing for Madison Consolidated Schools was held prior to Wednesday’s Madison school board meeting with an advertised total of $36.2 million.

The $36,240,314 budget allocates $20,821,923 in the education fund, $10,170,379 in the operations fund and $5,248,012 for debt service. The advertised tax levy is $11,573,243 with a tax rate of 1.1771.

“These advertised numbers are historically high due to the process utilized by the State of Indiana,” school corporation treasurer Danica Houze said, noting that once the Department of Local Government certifies the school budget the advertised budget estimates, levies and tax rates will likely be lowered. “To protect the school district, it is necessary to advertise these high and allow the process to lower them down.”

The budget is slated for adoption at the Oct. 12 board meeting.

BY BOB DEMAREE

A representative of the Southeastern Indiana Regional Planning Commission updated County Commissioners on Thursday on funding for improving broadband services in the county.

Reneisher Rudder, SIRPC economic resiliency coordinator

“Even though there’s a lot that’s coming, and that’s wonderful, it’s going to take

Woman facing felony fraud, theft charges

BY THE COURIER STAFF

A Madison woman was arrested on numerous theft related charges Thursday following an Indiana State Police investigation that revealed money had been stolen from a relative over a period of nearly four years.

Sherri L. Dorten, 41, turned herself in to investigators at the Jefferson County Jail on Thursday morning, and was placed under arrest and incarcerated pending her initial court appearance. A pretrial conference is schedule for Oct. 18 at 1 p.m. with a jury trial set for Nov. 15 at 9 a.m. She is currently in jail in lieu of a $25,000 full cash bond.

The investigation began in February after a woman reported a family member had stolen thousands of dollars from her. The investigation revealed evidence that indicated Dorten assumed the identity of the victim where she then obtained a loan and filed bankruptcy in the name of the victim. Dorten additionally withdrew money from ATMs and wrote checks from the victim's bank accounts. It was calculated that Dorten had fraudulently obtained thousands of dollars by taking advantage of the family member.

At the conclusion of the investigation, the case was submitted to the Jefferson County Prosecutors Office for review. As a result, a warrant was issued for Dorten on charges of Fraud of a financial institution and Corrupt Business Influence, both Level 5 felonies; Theft Property Value Between $750 and $50,000 and Identify Deception, both Level 6 felonies.

towards “preparing the county and the residents for the future, and for people to access that technology as much as they want.”

In other business:

- Commissioner Bobby Little said construction on the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office and Criminal Justice Center continues to progress well. “We're ahead of schedule. Entryway doors are being hung, locks are being installed, the wiring, plumbing and heating are continuing very well, so things are really looking up at there.”
- Commissioner Dave Bramer noted that although the building must function as a jail, it's going to be attractive building. “People were afraid it was going to be some ugly thing” but it's an attractive building but nothing “other-the-top,” and a good law enforcement facility for the county.

- Little reported that the increase in the county's health insurance tax rate for employees will be less than the 10% increase anticipated. Little said after an insurance meeting on Thursday the rate increase turned out to be a 3.1% increase which was “welcome, welcome relief.”
- Presented $25,000 to each of the six city of Madison fire companies from American Rescue Plan funds — Fairplay Company No. 1, Washington Fire Company No. 2, Western Fire Company No. 3, Walnut Fire Company No. 4, North Madison Fire Company No. 5 and Clifty 6 Fire Company.
- Held the first reading of an ordinance to amend the county's fixed capital asset management policy. County Auditor Heather Huff said the proposal creates specific perimeters on assets, and that departments in the county are required to provide that information to the auditor's office by the end of year. She said the State Board of Accounts is requiring that the ordinance state the minimum dollar amount on various types of assets, and their useful life examples.

- Approved an update to the county's ambulance service agreement that changes the name from Bethany Circle of King's Daughter's of Madison, Indiana Inc. to Norton-King's Daughters' Health Inc.
- Approved a contract with Where Technology Happens (WTH), which is the county's geographic information system (GIS) mapping service, for $500 per month. “It's a great service for the cost of $500,” Huff said.
- Held the first reading of an ordinance to update the rates on Sheriff sales that are handled by SRI Incorporated.
- Approved allowing the Dupont Water Company access to portions of the county's GIS information through WTH.
- Approved awarding a contract for installation of an aluminum box structure for culvert replacement on Polk Road to KLB for $31,400. One other quote was received from All Star Paving for $73,265.

Morgan noted the federal level is divided into two separate categories — individual assistance and public assistance — in terms of damage. He thinks that with 22 addresses affected in Jefferson County, there likely will not be enough loss to meet the individual assistance threshold to qualify for that federal funding.

“I do not believe at this particular time we will come anywhere near qualifying for individual assistance,” he said.

However, he thinks there is a chance that Jefferson County will have enough damage to meet the public assistance threshold due to the significant damage to roads and bridges along Brushy Fork Creek as well as the damage that took place to roads and bridges in Switzerland and Ohio counties.

Jefferson County Highway Superintendent Bobby Phillips said he should the final numbers for damage to roads and bridges in Jefferson County calculated and finalized by Tuesday. To hit the threshold, the county would need about $5 million damage to add to what Switzerland and Ohio counties are reporting.

“Five million dollars is a lot money,” said Phillips. “I don't know if we've got that much damage. Part of me hopes that there is so we have that federal assistance because otherwise Jefferson County, Switzerland County and Ohio County kind of takes this one on the chin, and we have to figure out how to make our budgets work.”

Meanwhile, Phillips commended his highway department employees who worked on the roads in the Brushy Fork Creek area after the storm while he was out of state. “They made it happen without me,” he said. Phillips said when he returned to work he was impressed with what been accomplished. “I came back, and the staff had everything all lined out. They worked closely with Troy. My hat's off to that crew,” he said.

In a related matter, the Commissioners unanimously approved a resolution to waive fees associated with building permits to those who wish to restore or replace structures damaged by the flooding. The decision came after County Plan Commission sent a letter, signed by County Survivor Mike Pittman and Commission President Warren Auxier, requesting the waiver of building permit fees for any building being replaced on the same foundation and not increasing in size as long as property owner submits proof of damage. However, even with the waiver of fees, building permits are still required.

“It's a good gesture for those folks,” said Commissioners President Ron Lee. “Being a resident of eastern Jefferson County, it's less than a mile from my house ... Total devastation on the creek bottoms, it's good to see the community pull together” and help out their neighbors. “I was proud of my community.”

Lee said it was estimated that the water flooding down Brush Fork Creek was traveling at 80 to 90 mph. He said the speeding water changed the path of the creek at Dow Ridge Road where Commissioners had previously discussed that the channel needed to be relocated.

Phillips said in training he's received on storm-water management, “they always say that water will find its path. You don't have to worry about that, it will make a new path” and that's what the force of the flooding did on Sept. 3. “A lot of times they say you don't have water and creek erosion issues as much as tree issues. When you see how many downed trees there are, that's part of the debris removal, some of those you don't even see.”

Suicide Prevention and Awareness Month

September is National Suicide Prevention and Awareness Month, and this week is a part of an annual campaign to educate and inform people about suicide prevention and its warning signs. By raising awareness, we can help our community and reduce the stigma associated with mental health that often discourages people from reaching out.

Suicide is among the top causes of death in the United States, and while no single cause is responsible, we all have a role to play in preventing it. According to the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention (ASFP), there are risk factors and warning signs which may increase the likelihood of an attempt. Risk factors include mental and physical health, as well as environmental and historical factors. Increasing awareness of these signs is an actionable step to approach this need in our community proactively.

By supporting mental health services in our area, we can build a community network readily available for anyone who is struggling. A great resource for our area is ResilientJeffersonCounty.org, where you can find a comprehensive list of nonprofit organizations and mental health providers in Jefferson County. I encourage you to educate yourself on the warning signs and risk factors and to check in on your family members and neighbors.

Next month, the local Out of Darkness Walk is happening on October 15. Join those affected by suicide, and the many people who support them, as we walk to raise awareness and send the message that no one is alone. Visit asfp.org to learn more.

Contact the 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline if you are experiencing mental health-related distress or are worried about a loved one who may need crisis support. 988 is confidential, free and available 24/7/365. Call or text 988; Chat at 988lifeline.org and/or visit the 988 Suicide and Crisis Lifeline for more information at 988lifeline.org. She was preceded in death by her husband Howard Nay, daughter Anna Smith, granddaughter Sally Childs and grandson Adam Childs, four sisters and two brothers.

Carmen and Howard owned and operated Broadacres Restaurant in North Vernon from 1975 until 1986. After the death of her husband, daughter and oldest granddaughter, she moved back to her home state of Texas. There she raised her youngest grandchild, Nikki.

She will be terribly missed but knowing of her unquestionable faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, it is a comfort to know she is in a much better place.

ON THIS DATE:
In 1787, the Constitution of the United States was completed and signed by a majority of delegates attending the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia.

In 1862, more than 3,600 men were killed in the Civil War Battle of Antietam (an-TEE'-tum) in Maryland.

In 1908, Lt. Thomas E. Selfridge of the U.S. Army Signal Corps became the first person to die in the crash of a powered aircraft, the Wright Flyer, at Fort Myer, Virginia, just outside Washington, D.C.

In 1920, the American Professional Football Association — a precursor of the National Football League — was formed in Canton, Ohio.

In 1937, the likeness of President Abraham Lincoln's head was dedicated at Mount Rushmore.

In 1939, the Soviet Union invaded Poland during World War II, more than two weeks after Nazi Germany had launched its assault.

In 1944, during World War II, Allied paratroopers launched Operation Market Garden, landing behind German lines in the Netherlands. (After initial success, the Allies were beaten back by the Germans.)

In 1947, James V. Forrestal was sworn in as the first U.S. Secretary of Defense.

In 1980, former Nicaraguan president Anastasio Somoza (suh-MOH'-sah) was assassinated in Paraguay.

In 1986, the Senate confirmed the nomination of William H. Rehnquist to become the 16th chief justice of the United States.

In 2001, six days after 9/11, stock prices nosedived but stopped short of collapse in an emotional, flag-waving reopening of Wall Street; the Dow Jones industrial average ended the day down 684.81 at 8,920.70.

In 2011, a demonstration calling itself Occupy Wall Street began in New York, prompting similar protests around the U.S. and the world.

Ten years ago: Republican Mitt Romney tried to head off a new distraction for his presidential campaign after a video surfaced showing him telling wealthy donors that 47 percent of all Americans "believe they are victims" entitled to help from the government that permeated their lives; Romney offered no apologies, but conceded his comments were not "elegantly stated" and were spoken "off the cuff."

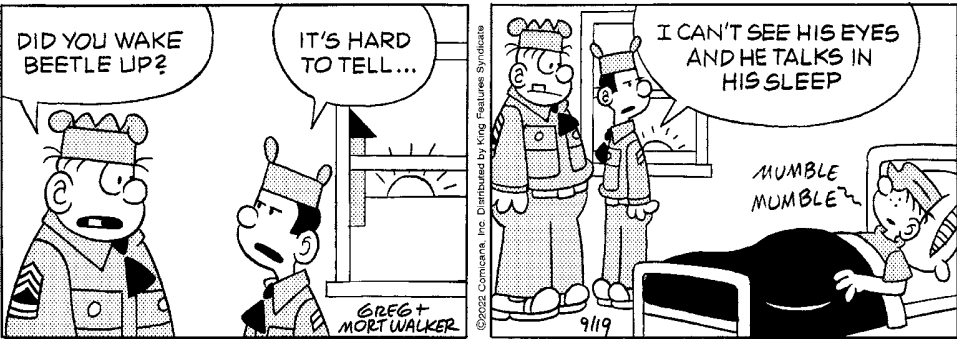

Five years ago: British authorities said a second suspect was in custody in connection with a bomb that partially exploded two days earlier on a packed London subway, injuring dozens. The top series prizes at the Emmy Awards went to "The Handmaid's Tale," "Veep" and the ever-topical "Saturday Night Live"; the ceremony took almost nonstop aim at President Donald Trump in awards and speeches.

One year ago: A Los Angeles jury convicted Robert Durst of murdering his best friend 20 years earlier; the case had taken on new life after the New York real estate heir participated in a documentary that connected him to the slaying linked to his wife's 1982 disappearance.

(Durst who was sentenced to life in prison, died in January 2022 at 78.) Retreating from its defense of a drone strike that had killed multiple civilians in Afghanistan in August, the Pentagon announced that a review revealed that only civilians were killed in the attack, and not an Islamic State extremist as first believed. France recalled its ambassador to the United States in an unprecedented show of anger by America's oldest ally; the action came after the U.S., Australia and Britain shunned France in creating a new Indo-Pacific security arrangement, and Australia scrapped a purchase of French submarines in favor of nuclear subs built with U.S. technology.

Second Amendment sanctuary foes compiling petition

Opponents of Jefferson County being designated aSecond Amendment sanctuary came before County Commissioners on Thursday to voice their opposition to that movement.

“We are concerned Jefferson County citizens who believe we are a nation and society of laws and that no one can pick and choose which laws are to be obeyed or enforced,” said Sandy Palmer, a 27-year resident of Jefferson County. “We do not support the passage of an ordinance making Jefferson County, Indiana, a second amendment sanctuary county.”

Palmer said the group does not oppose the Constitution or the Second Amendment but that passage of a local ordinance is not needed.

“We believe in the Constitution and fully support the second amendment,” said Palmer, but not in making Jefferson County a second amendment sanctuary. She said the group of concerned citizens is in the process of compiling signatures for a petition they plan to present to the Commissioners once completed. “We have hundreds of signatures from others who do not support making Jefferson County a second amendment sanctuary and we are continuing to obtain signatures.”

The issue of a second amendment sanctuary ordinance was brought up at a Feb. 6, 2020, meeting of the Commissioners when ordinance supporters submitted a petition with 1,730 signatures. The supporters have also submitted to Commissioners a sample of a second amendment sanctuary ordinance for their consideration.

Commissioner David Bramer said it has been the intention of the Commissioners to consider a measure of some sort on the second amendment but they wanted to be thoughtful about that process. “Just because it was handed to us didn’t mean we were going off to accept it,” Bramer said. “That’s why we were going to take some time to look at it” to consider what might be adopted.

Additionally, Bramer said the COVID pandemic delayed consideration of the proposal because they wanted public input once the public could once again safely gather for meetings. Finally in July, a public forum was held at the Jefferson County 4-H Fairgrounds in which the Commissioners presented a resolution that affirmed the Commissioners’ obligation to uphold the Constitution of the United States, particularly with respect to the Second Amendment, and stated the Board of Commissioners support the rights of Jefferson County residents created by the Second Amendment. At that forum, the Commissioners noted the resolution was still in draft form and the process of defining what might be adopted is ongoing.

“We are working on it, we are looking at other ones, we’re talking with our attorney,” Bramer said.

In making her case against the second amendment sanctuary, Palmer noted: “We support our local law enforcement who risk their life daily and think the proposed ordinance would further complicate their work. The proposal punishes and fines any county employees, including law enforcement, for upholding any new second amendment-related local, state and federal laws.”

She said, “The proposed ordinance further endangers our law enforcement and citizens by allowing the firing of weapons, including semi-automatic, without regard to zoning ordinances and neighborhood density.”

Richard Carter, a proponent of the second amendment sanctuary ordinance, has said the ordinance is needed to prevent Jefferson County taxpayers from funding the enforcement of federal and states laws with regard to firearms. He said his concern is that the government will take guns away from citizens.

After Palmer’s comments, Carter said several states have adopted the ordinance and that local residents need that protection to ensure that they will be able to continue to arm themselves against aggressors.

“Several states are doing (the ordinance), and regardless of what they think, there ain’t going to be anyone running around shooting,” Carter said, adding “What is she going to do when the government right now takes all the guns out of the county” and then she gets robbed. “It’s happening in a lot of places and it will happen here.”

Daniel Hellmann said the Commissioners should not adopt a second amendment sanctuary measure because it would be “banning their law enforcement officers to go against what they have pledged to do, which is to uphold the laws of the state and the federal and local and county.”

“It is to uphold the Constitution, not necessarily the laws, and those laws can get challenged in court,” Bramer responded.

“The state does have the right to make limitations on when and how guns can be carried, and we cannot have a cop hesitating to enforce as it stands when somebody’s life is in danger or anything like that,” Hellmann said.

Jarrett Boyd, of Madison, said her research shows that only 30 of Indiana’s 92 counties have passed either a resolution or ordinance with regard to a Second Amendment sanctuary. “Only seven or nine, depending on how you read it, have passed an ordinance,” she added. “This is not some sweeping change to declare these sanctuary counties in the state of Indiana.”

Their school psychologists will conduct evaluations in conjunction with Madison educational diagnosticians to assist in determining special education eligibility.

Superintendent Dr. Teresa Brown said that the agreement is necessary because the school corporation psychologist retired, and although the position was posted, they were unsuccessful in finding a person to fill that role. “If we can find our own, we would love to” but right now “this is our way to being able to evaluate students who might have special needs, and we have to a plan for that.”

- Approved the purchase of three 78-passenger buses at $137,395 each for a total of $412,185. Once they arrive, three buses will be eliminated from the school corporation’s fleet.
- Approved an agreement between Madison Consolidated Schools and Red Pepper Deli Inc. to rent the kitchen in the E.O. Muncie school building for food preparation used in their restaurants for $9,600 per year ($800 per month). Brown said Red Pepper has been using the kitchen so the agreement is not new.

“Advertising was our biggest failure. We’re surrounded by these three huge cities and we did almost no advertising in those markets,” McCormick said. “The vast majority of our sales came from the city of Madison itself, and that’s great. We want all of our local people to come in and see. But we need to be drawing from outside the area. The percentage (of total sales) from those areas was actually pretty good, but it’s the raw number of people that we need to increase.”

According to McCormick, the Regatta sold wristbands to individuals from 32 different states, ranging from Alaska to Massachusetts. The new president said that shows there was interest in the event but it needs to be better tapped.

“There is somebody in Oklahoma that came to this race. Now, if we could get five people from Oklahoma to show up, that would be something,” McCormick said.

For McCormick, the key targeting advertising to the proper markets, in the proper ways. He said there was no billboard signage along the interstates this past year and little actual marketing in Indianapolis, Louisville and Cincinnati. McCormick noted the Regatta has advertised in those areas in the past and it’s time to do it again.

“I would like to see billboards as you’re coming down 65 and see if we can get the news channels involved,” McCormick said. “Budgets are limited and we’re slipping into a recession, but this is something that we need to target. Not only will it help attendance, but potential sponsors will see it as well and it will be easier to sell to companies.”

While McCormick did not detail the Regatta’s plans next season in terms of racing, he did say the organization needs a better relationship with H1 Unlimited, the sanctioning body of the sport.

“We’re going to have to have some discussions with H1 about the race schedule and the way things are handled race weekend,” McCormick said. “(Past President) Greg (Thorpe) laid some good groundwork for that this past year and that is something that we need to continue to work on. My plan is to talk to other race sites and work with them to see if we can come up with some concrete plans for the future.”

A big part of McCormick’s plan also centers around increasing membership of the volunteer organization. He said Regatta membership numbers are low but there are plans in place to bring in new members to strengthen the organization.

“The key for us is that we need to make it fun to be involved. There is no pay, everybody is volunteers, so the only thing that you get out of it is a job well done,” McCormick said. “We need to do a better job of utilizing our members and making this a fun experience that you enjoy doing.”

Madison Mayor Bob Courtney was on hand at the meeting and pledged his support for the event going forward.

“We put on 40 different events in this city and this event, by far, takes the most preparation and uses the most resources, but also has the potential to have the biggest impact on the city,” Courtney said. “Fourth of July weekend we get 10,000 people in this city, all of them with different experiences that they can enjoy, whether it’s the races or the music or fireworks or parade. We’ve seen the economic impact, we have looked at the data and we want to work together to ensure that we bring the best experience to Madison that we can.”

In other business:

- McCormick welcomed new officers and board members to the organization.

The biggest change came in the vice-president position where Kyle

“We are just extending the agreement and worked out some new details. Since we’re not occupying the building we just want to be clear that they would bear the burden if we lost power, for example. It’s theirs to figure out.” She said no decisions have been made about the future of E.O. Muncie following a decision to move all remaining students there to Madison Consolidated High School.

“If we can help out the community by letting them use the kitchen then we’re all for it.”

- A pre-bargaining public hearing for teacher contracts was held with no public comments made.

Bipes was appointed to that office by the Board of Directors. Brent Turner had been elected to the position in April, but has opted to remain in his current role as Roostertail Festival chair.

Other new members are: Hannah Fisher, secretary; Tommy Lowry, rescue chair; and Melissa Whaler and Pam Gibson, board of directors.

- The next general membership meeting is at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 14, at the Fairfield Inn & Suites by Marriott in downtown Madison.

Shawe fends off rival Southwestern in 4

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Shawe Memorial shrugged off a second-set loss to beat rival Southwestern in four sets in volleyball action Thursday at home.

The Hilltoppers had won the first set 25-17 but Southwestern bounced back to take the second 25-16. After Shawe won the third fairly easily, 25-15, the Hilltoppers closed out the win with a hard-fought 28-26 victory in the fourth.

"I thought tonight we played with a lot of energy and positive enthusiasm," Southwestern coach Chris Johnson said.

"We needed more offensive production to be victorious but our defense did a good job of keeping us in the match led by Parker Mefford."

Mefford was 11-for-11 serving and 25-for-27 passing with 15 digs for the Rebels. Riley Scroggins was 13-for-13 hitting with five kills and added six aces, and Breona Brewer was 11-for-12 attacking with four kills.

On Wednesday, Shawe dominated Clarksville in a three-set win on the road, 25-11, 26-24 and 25-8.

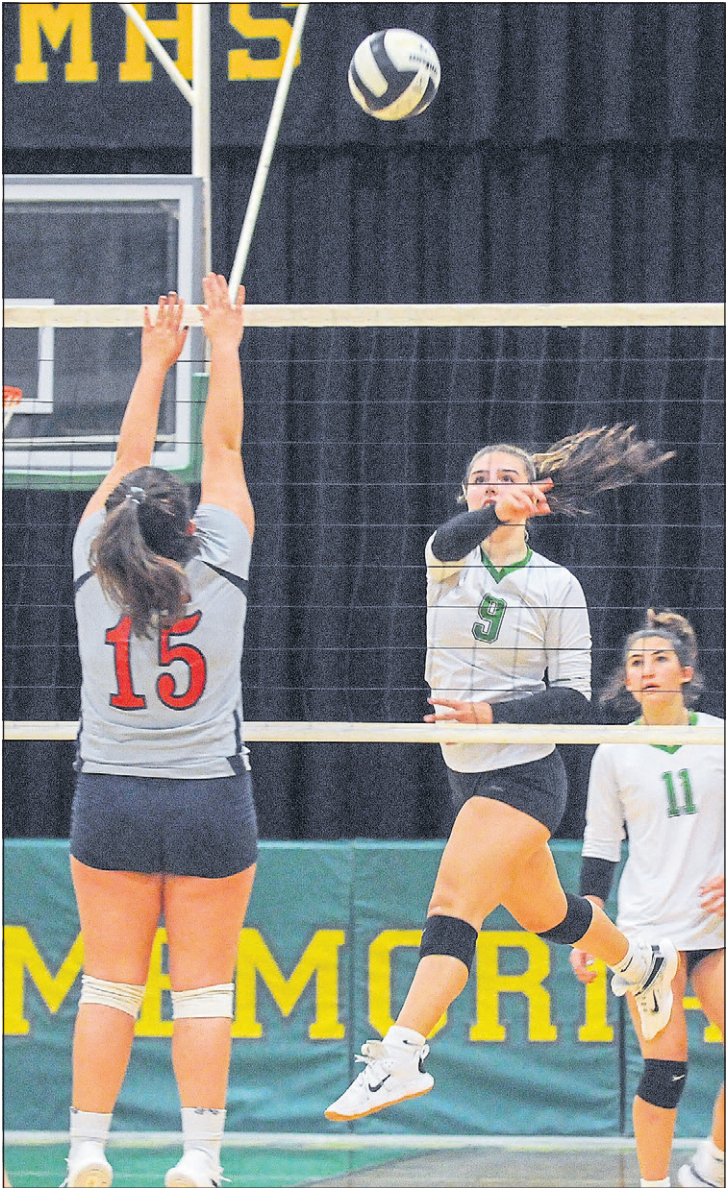

Emmaline Leatherman was 17-for-18 serving with five aces, 18 kills and six digs, Ava Turner was 15-for-17 serving with two aces, Allison Knoebel was 13-for-13 serving with two aces, seven digs and 17 assists, and Harlee Hill had 11 kills and 10 assists.

Southwestern, now 6-9 overall and 1-2 in the Ohio River Valley Conference, competes in the Henryville Invitational on Saturday.

Shawe, now 10-4 overall and 2-1 in the ORVC, travels to Oldenburg on Monday and hosts Milan next Wednesday.

Shawe's Payton Lock (9) hits the ball as Southwestern's Breona Brewer (15) goes up for a block during the Hilltoppers' 3-1 volleyball win Thursday at Shawe.

Trimble erupts for 24 points in 2nd half to beat Shawnee

BY THE COURIER STAFF
Trimble County football scored 24 unanswered points in the second half to pull away for a 26-2 win over Louisville Shawnee in the Raiders' district opener Thursday on the road.

Both teams managed only a safety in the first half and went into the lockerroom tied by an ultra-rare score of 2-2.

But the Trimble offense figured it out in the second half to score three touchdowns and win going away.

The Raiders, now 3-2 overall on the season and 1-0 in district play, host Owen County on Friday for Trimble's football homecoming.

Madison, Shawe golf close regular season at Sunrise

BY THE COURIER STAFF
Madison and Shawe golf wrapped up the girls regular season with a match at Sunrise Golf Course on Wednesday.

Madison won the tri-match with a 200 while Lawrenceburg shot a 214 and Shawe finished with a 227.

Senior Grace Bronkella picked up low-medalist honors for the Cubs with a 41 while freshman Emmi Dowell had a 49. Lilly Fox added a 54, senior Riley Poling had a 56 and Aleigh Wilson had a 59.

"This was a pretty good way to end our regular season. Grace was medalist in her last match and we shot our second-best nine-hole score of the year," Madison coach Jake Shockley said. "Grace had a very good career as a Madison Cub. She has three team sectional championships under her belt and has improved tremendously over her four years. She went from the number five as a freshman and had to be in Keara Eder's shadow a little bit. This year, however, she has been our clear-cut number one and has been consistently in the mid-40s and under. I'm grateful for the effort she has put into the program."

Kira Wells led Shawe with a 44 while Yolett Perez had a 56, Bailey Kilgore a 57 and Cassidy Nott a 70.

"Kira was pretty good tonight. If she can shoot 44-44 on Saturday, she'll likely get to regional," Shawe coach David Hertz said. "But our goal all along has been to get there as a team. We're still a player short and that has girls playing out of position so everyone is going to need to step up their game. We'll just have to see how it all plays out."

Both teams will play in the IHSAA Sectional at Sunrise Golf Course today. First tee is set for 11 a.m.

"I often tell the girls these weekday matches are just practice for the end of the year, but they still want to compete, which is awesome," Shockley said. "With this inexperienced group, the goal has been trying to max out for the sectional tournament. Hopefully, today was a good sign, but, you know what, this team has been fun to coach. They might not end up being the best team I've ever coached, but they were one of the best to coach. I really enjoyed the year, and I think they did, too. No matter what happens in the postseason, these ladies were successful."

GIRLS SOCCER ROUNDUP

Phelps, Ayler lead Madison over Jeff

BY THE COURIER STAFF
Iyana Phelps and Kyra Ayler teamed up for three goals as Madison defeated Jeffersonville 3-0 in girls soccer Thursday at home.

Ayler, just a freshman but one of the top goal-scorers in the state, came off the bench to score Madison's first goal of the game, off an assist from Phelps.

The goal was Ayler's 24th of the season.

Ayler then returned the favor by assisting Phelps on her first goal of the game to push the Cubs ahead 2-0.

Ayler was then fouled in the penalty box and Phelps connected on the PK for the final margin.

Madison, now 7-4 on the season, travels to Corydon today and heads to Jennings County next Wednesday.

PACERS, TWISTERS TIE 1-1
Switzerland County and Oldenburg battled to a 1-1 draw in girls soccer on Thursday in a showdown of two ranked opponents.

Switzerland County came into the match ranked ninth in Class A with Oldenburg ranked 11th. The two sectional rivals managed a goal each.

The Pacers, now 9-0-1 on the season, travel to Franklin County on Monday and head to Southwestern on Tuesday.

CARROLL BEATS HENRY 2-1
Carroll County picked up a hard-fought 2-1 win at home against Henry County in girls soccer on Wednesday.

Senior Chloe Young scored both of the Panthers' goals to up her season total to 20. Kelby Maiden added an assist for Carroll while Laila Miller had five saves in goal.

Carroll, now 8-5 overall on the season and 2-1 in the North Central Kentucky Conference, improves to 5-0 in 31st District play. The Panthers host Bourbon County today and travel to Gallatin County on Monday.

REBELS FALL TO SHINERS
Rising Sun scored two goals in the final three minutes of the contest to break up a scoreless tie and post a 2-0 win over Southwestern in girls soccer on Thursday.

The two teams battled for 77 minutes before Rising Sun broke through for the game-winner. The Shiners then added a second goal for the final margin.

"With only two subs and our third game of the week, our team played well together, including covering for each other and taking on different positions," Southwestern coach Nancy Totten said.

Southwestern, now 1-6-1 overall and 0-5 in the Ohio River Valley Conference, traveled to Austin on Friday and hosts Class A No. 9 Switzerland County on Monday.

HANOVER EDGED BY OTTERBEIN
Hanover men's soccer was shutout 1-0 at Otterbein on Thursday.

Otterbein scored the game's only goal in the 45th minute on a shot by Will Isaac.

Hanover managed only one shot in the contest as Otterbein dominated action, 25-1 on shots and 10-0 in shots on goal. Goalie Luciano Salemi had seven saves for the Panthers.

Hanover, now 3-6 on the season, hosted Adrian on Friday and hosts Westminster and Berea today.

Josie Dale had three blocks, two kills and an ace for the Panthers while Courtney Strickland, Sydney Singer, Elle Spencer and Taylor Butler each had a kill. Butler also had two assists.

Carroll, now 0-10 overall, 0-3 in the NCKS and 0-6 in the 31st District, hosts Williamstown next Wednesday.

What If You DID Have A Crystal Ball? Can you use a crystal ball to look forward?

Layin' it on the line

By Stephen Dybwad
Retirement Planning/Wealth Management

Ever wonder how different your life might be if you had made the suitable investment at the right time? How many cars would you own? No college loans for your children. Retirement would be those wonderful "golden" years.

What if you knew in advance when the stock market was going to drop, and you had time to move your money from risk to safety? Your money could only increase and never be exposed to losses. What if you had a mechanism that would do that for you automatically? Would you feel more confident about your future financial health?

stock market increases, your funds are in play. Your crystal ball would always know what was happening before it happened.

That would be pretty darn amazing, wouldn't you say?

The "crystal" ball is available to you right now; a product exists that will keep your funds in the "safe" when the market drops, so you are never exposed to risk. When the demand increases, you earn part of the gain.

Now that is genuinely amazing, wouldn't you agree? The product does exist and is owned by millions of people already. The product is so popular that last year it grew in several owners by over 100%. More than $300 billion in funds are trusted nationally by people looking for safety and security.

The name of this truly unique product? Fixed Indexed Annuities! (FIA) Sound too good to be true?

Many people have asked that question, and the truth is that you have no exposure to risk, you can never go backward, and your funds are guaranteed. The tradeoff is simple, partial market gains that can never be reduced or taken away against absolutely no exposure to risk or loss.

The offset is simple if the market goes up, you do not receive 100% of the gain; you receive a percentage of that gain.

That is a deal millions of Americans have taken, and millions have based their significant retirement money on. Consider income from FIA as part of your guaranteed funds, funds that can never be outlived, funds in the same category of Social Security Income, and your company pension.

Your crystal ball? It is already here; investigate these interesting products and see if they make sense for you.

Fun guys make trouble foraging fungi

Dear Amy: I have a group of three friends (we're all male) with whom I enjoy one overnight each month at a cabin in the woods.

Recently two of the guys made a spaghetti dinner for us.

The next morning they told us that they had included mushrooms in the sauce that they had found behind the woodpile.

I was horrified. I have a degree in biology and taught environmental science for over 30 years — neither of these guys has experience with mycology or taxonomy of fungi. When I expressed my dismay, they were defensive ("My wife said they were OK!") and eventually turned to taunting.

At the next overnight I questioned what ingredients were included in the meal. Realizing the ridiculousness of this endeavor to be safe and wishing to avoid further ridicule, I began to bring my own food under the declaration that I prefer to eat later in the evening than they do.

Amy, they are still making jokes about it and have never shown any contrition, much less offered an apology.

ASK AMY

Two questions: Was my reaction unfounded (I can't imagine it was), and do you have a suggestion for resolving this through communication?

— Avoiding Amanita
Dear Avoiding: Your reaction was not unfounded, but your overreaction is.

You certainly have the right to bring your own food to these gatherings, but you aren't being honest about your reason). And — every time you do this you revive the original issue, which is that you don't trust your friends to offer a safely prepared meal.

In my opinion, you should make a choice to trust your friends' food prep, but this would require you to relax about an issue you obviously take extremely seriously.

Nanny's crush on dad may crush her

Dear Amy — I met "Ben" the first day I began working for his family as a nanny about a year ago. I felt an instant attraction, but quickly let it go because he's married, my boss, and I was married at the time. We had minimal interaction, so that helped, too.

Fast-forward six months, and my husband and I separated after years of strain.

At this exact time, Ben began initiating conversation more often. My feelings for him grew stronger and stronger. After a couple months of conversation, intense eye contact, and Ben's giddiness, it became apparent to me the feelings may be mutual. This felt nice and was a welcome distraction while going through my divorce.

I want to know what Ben thinks and if the feelings truly are mutual. It doesn't help that he continues to send me mixed signals. I have researched what to do in this situation and nothing seems to help. I am worried that he's not just a distraction, but I have actually fallen in love.

I respect his wife, and care so much for his kids. I could never cross the line further than I already have.

Not being able to act on my feelings is getting so difficult for me that I am considering getting a new job. I am torn. Ultimately I am wondering, how do I keep my job and get over the heartbreak of liking someone who is unavailable? — Heartbroken

Dear Heartbroken — I'll start by affirming the strength of your emotions and your curiosity about his feelings.

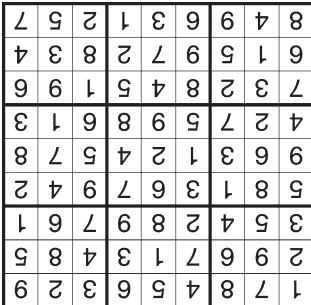

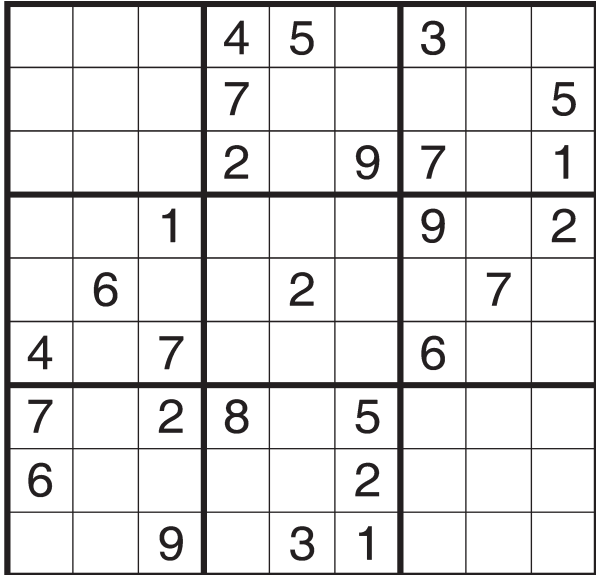

Here's the tough part — Your emotions notwithstanding, this is a scenario where there is an inevitable loser — and it is you. It is ethically and morally wrong to pursue the married father of the children you are caring for. (It is just as wrong for him — but this is about you.)

Get another position. Within two weeks of leaving, your ardor will die down, you will start to realize how close you flew to the flame, and you will be justifiably proud that you did the right thing — or rather, that you did not do the wrong thing.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — When you lead, others might well follow. You can set a good example of wise business expertise now. Romance could be ready to blossom in a most unexpected way. This is a good time to kiss and make up.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Exercise and physical activity can bring you down to earth and back on your game. Understand your limitations but explore all the possibilities. A partner might share some fascinating subjects that trigger your interest.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — The fuzziest logic might make sense to you now. An array of interesting information and ideas could send you in a totally different direction. Watch out for mix-ups with messages and offer sincere apologies when needed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Think green and protect the planet. You'll find serious satisfaction by finding new and more powerful ways to become part of the solution. You may develop or share a passion for a study of life's mysteries.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Your job or career may come first. For you, it is not business before pleasure, but perhaps business being a pleasure. You will get the most satisfaction by concentrating on your financial security and material success.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Budding ambitions may occupy your mind and take up your time. You may have an incentive to follow through on a creative idea. This is a good time to initiate new projects and follow through with them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Follow friendly advice. A casual suggestion from a trusted friend might help you get ahead or avoid a potential pitfall. This could be a good time to make major changes or start something new within your home.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Take the first step. You should be able to achieve your goals and find more stability by putting your most ambitious ideas into motion this weekend. Once you get the ball rolling, a project can gain momentum.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Fill your head with facts rather than fantasies. You may find it difficult to come to a conclusion, but discussions can be interesting. Focus on making your bank account and financial security grow.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You may enjoy self-imposed pressure to excel. This might be an excellent time to launch a new business idea or to focus on a new project. Draw on reserves of stamina to relentlessly push things into being.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Guard your privacy and look for new solutions. If you feel that you're stuck on a treadmill, you can't move in a new direction until you quit running in the same direction. A partner can show you how to make positive change.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — There is time to waste and more time to wonder. A new relationship could be a lot of fun, but you may feel that nothing is accomplished and there's no clear direction. Avoid the temptation to be overly sympathetic.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Apply your shrewd head for business to search for ways to increase the joys and pleasures in your daily life. Study creative ways to make calculated risks worthwhile. This is a good time to ask for favors at work.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — If you don't schedule some time for yourself, no one else will. It may seem that your social life is compromised when tasks and responsibilities fall on your shoulders. Be more efficient by adopting new technologies.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Adjust your attitude by finding a way to put a favorable spin on a problem. Get past obstacles by remaining confident that an answer will present itself in time. A partner or loved one could offer sound advice and unfailing support.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Pick up the phone and apply your networking skills. It is possible to form powerful connections by reminding people of your mutual interests. Focus on a new friendship or association with a social group.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Achieving security and a more fulfilling future can be either an issue or an incentive. Implementing some small economies and cost-cutting techniques might begin to pay off. Take pride in having a sensible savings plan.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You may sparkle and dazzle everyone you meet with your sociable style. However, coworkers and those in close connection may seem too busy to give you the attention you might crave so step up and love and validate yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Using good manners will be welcomed by others. Social gatherings might require special protocols, but you can enjoy a crowd where you can relax and discuss the latest trends. Wrap a romantic partner around your little finger.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Dip into a storehouse of tactfulness to handle a drama queen or someone who hijacks the spotlight. Your performance should not be criticized if you follow the rules, complete your duties and pay your bills on time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — You understand your conscience should dictate everything you do. You won't just flip a coin when there is a choice between doing the right or wrong thing. You may receive recognition for being a team player.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You do a great job, but sometimes you need reassurances. Remind yourself that if you haven't met your goals, you may be able to adjust the timetable. Exercise self-discipline when handling the budget and surprise expenses.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Ignorance is only bliss when there isn't some fine print to review. This may be a good time to socialize with mentors or experienced family members who can advise you. Focus on ways to conserve your money.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Work on re-aligning with your sense of purpose or upgrade it to the next level. Be alert to an important opportunity to do something worthwhile even if your head is up in the clouds looking for inspiration.

Reds snap six-game losing streak, beat Cardinals 3-2

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
ST. LOUIS — Nick Senzel and Aristides Aquino hit solo home runs and the Cincinnati Reds beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 Thursday night to snap a six-game losing streak in the opener of a five-game series.

The loss cut the Cardinals' lead in the National League Central to 7 1/2 games over the idle Milwaukee Brewers.

St. Louis made it interesting in the ninth against rookie reliever Alexis Diaz, loading the bases with one out on two singles and walk before pulling within a run on a sacrifice fly by Albert Pujols, giving him 123 in his career and tying him with Hall of Famer Robin Yount for third most in MLB history since 1954.

Diaz then got pinch-hitter Cory Dickerson to ground out to end the game and earn his seventh save.

Aquino and Spencer Steer each had two hits for the Reds.

Pujols finished 0 for 3 and remained at 697 career home runs. He is fourth on the all-time list behind Barry Bonds (762), Hank Aaron (755) and Babe Ruth (714).

Cincinnati starter Chase Anderson (1-3) gave up one hit in five innings. He struck out three and waked two.

Four Reds pitchers held the Cardinals to just three hits.

Pirates 10, Reds 4 (Wednesday) — Rodolfo Castro hit a three-run homer and an RBI single, and the Pittsburgh Pirates completed a four-game sweep of the Cincinnati Reds with a 10-4 victory on Wednesday.

Rookie Oneil Cruz connected for a two-run drive, helping last-place Pittsburgh to its first four-game win streak since mid-July.

Ke'Bryan Hayes had three of the Pirates' 12 hits.

It was Pittsburgh's first four-game series sweep in Cincinnati since July 11-14, 1991.

Kyle Farmer and Austin Romine homered for the lowly Reds, who have dropped six in a row. Nick Lodolo (4-6) struck out 11 while working 6 1/3 innings of three-run ball.

Cincinnati jumped in front on Spencer Steer's RBI single in the second, but Pittsburgh went ahead to stay on Castro's ninth homer in the third. Castro also hit a three-run shot during the Pirates' 6-3 win in the series opener Monday night.

Lodolo allowed six hits in his first loss this month.

Colts get another shot at ending road skid to Jags

BY MARK LONG
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Despite penalties, blown coverages, dropped passes, red-zone failures, third-down woes and a late turnover, the Jacksonville Jaguars found progress and potential in their season-opening loss at Washington.

Maybe it's reality for a promising team or maybe it's misguided optimism stemming from a new head coach, a new staff and new players in every direction. Either way, the Jags (0-1) should have a better gauge when they host AFC South rival Indianapolis (0-0-1) on Sunday.

The Colts, coming off a disheartening tie at Houston that cost kicker Rodrigo Blankenship his job, are widely considered the team to beat in the division and have spent the last eight months waiting for this rematch.

Jacksonville knocked Indy out of the playoffs in the 2021 season finale, a 26-11 drubbing that prompted the Colts to change quarterbacks in the offseason. It was Jacksonville's seventh consecutive home win in the series, a head-scratching skid for the Colts that they insist is more of a fluke than a fundamental flaw in how the teams stack up at TIAA Bank Field.

"It's not just us and Jacksonville. There are other teams that have this same problem, just other ways," Indy running back Nyheim Hines said. "If you're a team in the NFL, of all 31 teams, there's going to be somebody that is going to have your number every time you play them or match up."

The Colts haven't won in Jacksonville since 2014. Coach Frank Reich is winless in four trips, and no one on the team's current roster has experienced a victory in Jacksonville with Indy.

It's one of the few positive streaks going for Jacksonville, which extended its road and NFC skids to 18 and 17 games, respectively, last week against the Commanders.

The franchise's first game under new coach Doug Pederson was a mistake-filled mess. The Jaguars had 13 penalties, dropped a surefire touch-down pass and struggled with the basics on both sides of the ball.

"You have to move on, take the positives and learn from the negatives," quarterback Trevor Lawrence said. "We got a great opportunity this week. Obviously, we need a win."
